Parents!

Does your child love to read? Do you want to empower your children to think more critically about their reading? Do you want to offer your child the resources to build their higher order thinking skills? Join us for the SP2024 Read4Me Reading Discussion Circle and learn how shared inquiry can inspire readers to greater heights!

What Is Read4Me (R4M)?

R4M is a shared inquiry guided reading discussion circle led by Gifted Educators and sponsored by University of Louisiana at Lafayette, Center for Gifted Education, and the Reading Institute. The Gifted Education facilitators will lead able readers, and those who like to read in the fourth through sixth grades in this discussion circle. This semester our theme is, exploration.

Students will use resources that include, Jr. Great Books, College of William and Mary Center for Gifted Education Curricula, Tumble Books, and others. All reading materials will be available to students online via Tumble Books. We hope you will join the discussion.
